

Society

NOVEMBER of this year has revealed herself as November the golden, rather than the November of gray skies and bleak winds. Hazy days have brought the dawn summer, and robed autumn of any suspicion of dreariness.

The gay doings of society match the gay aspect of the outside world. All classes of the social world are out, and many entertainments, combining formal with informal functions, are being arranged for.

Season Later Every Year.

Every year the season proper opens a little later because the country houses are leaving annually later in their closing, there being a thousand and one attractions to country life at this season, when the haws are on and the early mornings resound with the merry echoes of the huntman's horn.

Hunting parties are in vogue, and now all over Virginia, the Tanquer and Orange Hunt Clubs, as well as those of Loudoun and Albemarle, being specially active in following the hounds.

The Wedding Bells.

And everywhere wedding bells are pealing and brides and their maids are playing their parts in the nuptial drama, to an accompaniment of luncheons and dinners and rehearsal receptions. Weddings this season, at church and at home, are characterized by an unusual richness in decoration and in the gowns worn by the bride, the bridesmaids and the wedding guests.

Thanksgiving and Football. As Thanksgiving approaches, a preliminary stir over the antagonism between the Blue and Orange and the Blue and White of the Universities of Virginia and North Carolina, is making itself felt. The Richmond girls, debutantes that have been and debutantes to be, are already getting ready their most fetching costumes and putting their programs for the day in order, for all have friends in the football teams and the university men who will accompany the teams to Richmond for the day, and cheer their comrades on to victory.

Several fashionable weddings and debutante teas, meanwhile, will engage the attention of those to whom the season's gayeties are an all-important consideration.

In Honor of Bridal Party.

Miss Rosalie Milnes gave a beautiful luncheon at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Alice Marie Milnes, a bride of Wednesday next, and of her bridal party, among them Miss Sally Carter, of Danville, Va., and Miss Grace Barrow Dittman, of Baltimore, Md., who are guests at the Milnes home, 11 East Main Street.

Exquisite decorations were in green and white. The luncheon table bore a plaque of white chrysanthemums, loose-petaled, fringed with maiden-hair ferns, and veiled with white tulle. Beside each cover was placed a corsage bouquet of gardenias, lilies of the valley and violets. Those present were: Mrs. Bruce Bower, Mrs. Samuel Bower, Mrs. Aubrey Young, Miss Grace Dittman, of Baltimore; Miss Mary Harmon, of Charlottesville; Miss Sally Carter, of Danville; Miss Lillian Haynes, Miss Hattie Shields, Miss Allen Cowardin, Misses Rosalie and Alice Marie Milnes. Mrs. Bruce Bower entertained. Miss Alice Marie Milnes and her bridal party, in her home on Grove Avenue at a supper yesterday evening, and Mrs. Stuart Bower will give a dinner Monday evening in their honor.

The wedding of Miss Milnes to Herbert Clinton Whitcomb will be celebrated next Wednesday, November 16, at 8:20 P. M., in Centenary Methodist Church.

At the Country Club.

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Country Club will be held at 3 o'clock this evening at the clubhouse. Music and dancing will set the social pace as usual between the hours of 6 o'clock and 8 o'clock. Dancing will be suspended for about three-quarters of an hour during the meeting, to be continued afterward until 10 o'clock. The music will play during this interval in the palm room.

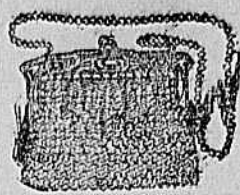

Woman's Club. Music-lovers are looking forward with much interest to the musicale to be given at the Woman's Club tomorrow (Monday) afternoon, when the following program will be rendered by well-known members of the Philharmonic Orchestra, assisted by Miss Mary Daniel, soprano, a graduate of the Peabody Institute, Baltimore, who will prove a valuable addition to the musical circle here:

1. "Scherzo," from string sextet (J. Raff); two violins, two violas, two cellos.

2. "Andante and Allegro," from piano quartet, G minor (W. A. Mozart); piano, violin, viola, cello.

3. Soprano solo, "Air de Louise" (Charpentier); Miss Mary Daniel.

4. "Adagio and Finale," from piano
